Deliver Major
Address Today

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP)—President Eisenhower will go to New York tomorrow to deliver a major foreign policy speech in which he is expected to sound a rallying call for the free nations to tighten their unity in the face of Communist efforts to split the coalition.

The White House announced that Eisenhower's address, to be carried nationally on television and radio networks beginning at 8:30 p.m. EST, will be pitched to the general theme of steps taken and projected by the free world to establish peace and freedom universally.

Eisenhower will speak at a dinner in connection with Columbia University's bicentennial celebration.

Congress Likely
To Air Reported
AEC Policy Row

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP)—A reported backstage row within the Atomic Energy Commission over administrative policies of Chairman Lewis L. Strauss probably will be aired in Congress this week.

Strauss and other commissioners begin testifying Wednesday at open hearings before the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, now considering a broad new blueprint for controlling atomic power.

Rep. Holifield (D-Calif.), a committee member, said today he intends asking each of the five commissioners about what he termed continuing reports of a "lack of harmony" among them.

"Tempest in Teapot," Cole Says
"I understand this lack of harmony is more than a matter of personalities," Holifield said in an interview.

"I am afraid it is based on a lack of access to information, pertinent to the success of our atomic objectives, on the part of some of the commissioners."

Other committee members also have spoken guardedly of disagreements within the commission. Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.), the chairman, says the controversy is a "tempest in a teapot" and attributes it to a clash of personalities.

Other reports say the central issue is conflict over efforts by Strauss and some of his supporters to increase the prestige of the chairman, instead of adhering to a five-man commission of relatively equal rank. Strauss now is the commission's main contact with the White House, as the President's personal adviser on atomic energy.

Cole, Holifield Disagree
Cole and Holifield already have squared off over a proposed new clause in the atomic energy bill which would designate the chairman as the commission's "principal officer."

Cole said the phrase would merely apply to the AEC chairman the same type of designation now widely used in laws governing other federal commissions.

Holifield and Rep. Price (D-Ill.) say it would lead to "one-man rule" of the commission. They say they will fight to eliminate it from the measure, on the House floor if necessary.

Dentist Admits Killing
Rival For Wife's Love

SOUTH HAVEN, Mich., May 30 (AP)—What was a gay holiday for others slowed official action today against Dr. Kenneth B. Small, Detroit dentist who admitted slaying a New York rival for his attractive wife's attentions.

Dr. Small, 31, interrupted a holiday card party at a swank summer residence near here yesterday by firing two bullets into the chest of Jules Lack, 45, a wealthy New York industrialist, state police reported.

Dr. Small's petite wife, Edith, 30, had named Lack earlier as a man she had fallen in love with during a Florida vacation last winter. She had asked her husband for a divorce.

Russian Minister
Says He'll Return

GENEVA, May 30 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov left the Geneva conference today and flew back home just as East and West squared off for the actual business of halting the conflict in Indochina.

His early morning departure came on the heels of an agreement in a nine-party conference session yesterday to summon military experts of the two sides to Geneva to draw the actual cease-fire lines in war torn Viet Nam, and perhaps in Cambodia and Laos as well.

The Russian delegation here refused all comment. Western officials could only speculate that Molotov was going to give Premier Georgi Malenkov and other Kremlin officials a report on the month-old talks, or would join them in mapping out their next objective in the conference hall.

Will Return In Few Days

They were told Molotov would be returning in a few days. Western sources said both British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and U. S. Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith knew in advance of Molotov's trip. Smith was told Molotov would be back here Tuesday morning.

Molotov and a group of aides left Geneva about 4 a.m. in three Soviet DC3s. Aside from a protocol visit to Berne, capital of Switzerland, Friday, this was Molotov's first absence from the conference since the talks opened late in April. Eden has visited London and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault has made trips to Paris and back. American Secretary of State John Foster Dulles left Geneva after the first week and put the U. S. delegation in Smith's charge.

Molotov's Reception
Before going to the airport, Molotov attended a Red Chinese reception where guests included Red Chinese Foreign Minister Chou En-lai, North Korean Foreign Minister Nam Il and Vietnamese Foreign Minister Pham Van Dong.

One of the obvious choices now confronting the Kremlin is whether the Russians should string out the meeting of military experts into a replica of the Korean military talks at Panmunjom where the opposing sides argued more than two years before fixing a cease-fire line. Conversely, they might seek to halt the fighting as quickly as possible with a prompt accord on the armistice lines in Indochina.

Jacquet Quits In Row
Over Indochina Policy

PARIS, May 30 (AP)—Marc Jacquet, secretary of state for the Associated States (Indochina), resigned today in a dispute over Indochinese affairs. Premier Joseph Laniel accepted the resignation.

Jacquet stepped down after a behind-the-scenes controversy stemming from reports he had leaked to a newspaper information on a report to the Cabinet by Gen. Paul Ely, chairman of France's Joint Chiefs of Staff, regarding the situation in Indochina. He denied the accusation.

Last week the government confiscated copies of the weekly newspaper L'Express carrying information on Ely's report. The writer of the article refused to name his source. An indictment against one "X" was issued on the charge he had divulged secret information. The police still are seeking "X."

Injured Mountain Climber
Is Found "Alive And Well"

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, May 30 (AP)—A Brooklyn, N. Y., mountain climber, gravely injured and stranded for 15 days in a tent 11,000 feet up on towering Mt. McKinley—tallest in North America—was reached by a rescue team today, which radioed back:

"He's alive and well."

Two men of a five-man rescue party reached the injured mountain climber, George Argus, at 12:10 p.m. The other three were expected at the tent shortly.

The two were Dr. John McCall, University of Alaska glacier expert, and Frank Milan, from the Air Force aero-medical laboratory at Ladd Field in Fairbanks.

They radioed their brief message to a hovering airplane, which in turn radioed the report to Fairbanks.

The brief message did not give full details, but stressed that "he is well."

Observers said they expected it would take from two to three days, Vt.

Holiday Traffic
Death Toll May
Set New Record

[By The Associated Press]

A record volume of traffic on the nation's highways threatened Sunday to set a shattering new mark for accidental killings during the Memorial Day weekend.

The violent death toll climbed to 203 Sunday afternoon. Traffic accidents claimed 159 lives. Another 22 drowned and 22 others died in miscellaneous accidents.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, urged drivers to stagger their homeward holiday trips "or this Memorial Day total may be the greatest" ever.

Council engineers estimated 30 million cars were on the move.

Record 363 Killed In 1952

Dearborn said that the council's estimate of 340 traffic deaths for the weekend and the record of 363 traffic fatalities during a three-day Memorial weekend, set in 1952, might be surpassed "if motorists do not make it a point to use extra care."

Many of the fatal accidents were high-speed, head-on smashups. In Illinois which took an early lead in the death statistics, two such crashes took nine lives. One was a calamity on heavily traveled U. S. Rt. 66 near Glenview in the central part of the state south of Springfield, the state capital which killed five persons. Six persons were injured also in this collision which occurred near midnight Saturday.

Period Ends Midnight Monday

A second crash near Mount Vernon in southern Illinois took three lives and injured three persons critically. One of the dead and two of the maimed were children. The Memorial weekend survey was listing accident victims killed between 6 p.m. (local time) Friday and midnight Monday—a 78 hour period.

Last year's two-day Memorial holiday took 385 lives in all types of accidents, 241 in traffic, 98 in drownings, and 46 in other accidents. The actual accident fatality high for any Memorial Day weekend was 571 from all causes in 1950. This covered four days and six hours.

The average number of traffic deaths in the United States the first four months of this year was 88 per day.

to bring Argus down the tortuous mountainside.

A sled was dropped by plane this morning and is available near the lonely tent. Another sled dropped two days ago is buried in snow and unreachable.

The down-mountain trek with Argus will be difficult as he must lie flat all the way. He can not stand pressure on the small of the back and can not sit up.

He has a broken hip.

It took more than 24 hours for the rescue party to make the last two miles to the tent. Treacherous crevasses made footing precarious.

Argus has been on 20,000-foot Mt. McKinley since April 17. But it was 15 days ago that he was left in a tent by other climbers after a fall over a 1,000-foot precipice May 16 at the 13,000-foot level. That plunge killed one member of the four-man climbing party—George Thayer, 27, of Reedsboro, Vt.

East Pakistan
Ministers Are
Fired In CrisisState Of Emergency
Declared In Section
Of Divided Country

KARACHI, Pakistan, May 30 (AP)—Pakistan's governor general dismissed all 14 of East Pakistan's Cabinet ministers today, including the popular chief minister, aged Abdul Kasem Fazlul Huq. He declared a state of emergency as bitter differences between the divided sections of this country came to a head.

Pakistan's Prime Minister Mohammed Ali, a political foe of Fazlul Huq, broadcast to the nation an explanation of the drastic move. He said the ousted minister was a "traitor to Pakistan, even to East Pakistan." The prime minister asserted Fazlul Huq had said his ultimate goal was an independent Bengal (East Pakistan). This, Ali said, was a "disloyal utterance."

Assembly Not Dissolved

First reports said the central government also had dissolved East Pakistan's new Provincial Assembly. Mohammed Ali denied this, saying the Assembly was not affected by the order removing the Cabinet.

Karachi acted under the "governor's rule" followed since Britain withdrew from the Indian subcontinent in 1947, whereby the central government can assume the functions of a provincial ministry.

Mohammed Ali said Fazlul Huq had refused to accept advice from the central government and had let "disruptive forces" create confusion, economic chaos, and retard progress in East Pakistan.

Ali said that when Fazlul Huq first conferred with the central government in April, he had complained of the Communist menace in East Pakistan. But at a conference just concluded here, at which Fazlul Huq was accompanied by his government colleagues, he insisted there were no Communists and no communism in his province. The prime minister added it was surprising how the Communists could disappear within a week.

Coalition Had Red Support

The ousted minister's coalition had Communist support in the March elections. A dispatch from Dacca, East Pakistan's capital, said army units were patrolling that city, with troops guarding the provincial government secretariat, railway station, radio station, central telegraph and telephone offices, power house, and waterworks.

Gov. Gen. Ghulam Mohammed named Maj. Gen. Iskander Mirza, secretary of the central government's defense ministry, governor of East Pakistan and directed him to take control in the crisis.

French Socialist
Party Backs EDC

PARIS, May 30 (AP)—The French Socialist party voted approval of the European Defense Community Treaty in conference here today. But then it went into a bitter debate to decide whether it would force reluctant Socialist members of Parliament to vote for the treaty on a threat to evict them from the party.

The vote favoring ratification of EDC was 1,969 to 1,215, with 285 delegates not voting.

Although the convention itself reflected the Socialist party as favoring the treaty, which calls for rearming Germans within a six-nation army, 58 Socialist members of the Assembly have signed a pact to vote against it. Since it is generally agreed the government will need support of about 75 of the 105 Socialist Assembly members to get a majority for the treaty, only a vote of discipline to compel them to follow party orders would help. No date has been set for debate on the treaty and the best guesses are it will not take place for weeks, perhaps months.

TAIPEH, Formosa, Monday, May 31 (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist air force said its planes bombed and sank a 500-ton Chinese Red gunboat and machine-gunned 21 motorized junks yesterday off the mainland where there has been an outbreak of air and naval activity recently.

The announcement said the attacks were made off Wenchow Bay, Chekiang Province, and that, despite heavy Communist fire, the Nationalist planes got back to their Formosan base.

Tax Slash Nears
Showdown Stage
In Senate Group

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP)—Proposals for a major income tax cut and for lower levies on dividends came up for a vote in the Senate Finance Committee this week as it reaches the showdown stage on a general tax revision bill.

The committee resumes its closed-door work on the measure Tuesday. Chairman Millikin (R-Colo.) expects to finish the job by Friday. The group has been working on the bill almost two months, but major decisions have been left to the last.

In advance of the voting, Republican leaders expressed confidence the measure will be approved in substantially the form it was asked by President Eisenhower and voted by the House.

Demos To Renew Battle

But Democratic members prepared to renew in the Senate the battle they lost in the House—to eliminate some sections they say favor the rich and to increase the tax exemption for dependents, which would cut taxes sharply for those with small incomes and large families.

The increased exemption originally was pushed as a means of increasing buying power to offset fears of a recession early this year.

There have been some reports the sponsors were cooling off toward the plan, because of current business conditions and because of the international situation which could create a need for more revenues for defense.

Democrats See Floor Fight

But Sen. George (D-Ga.) and Sen. Frear (D-Del.), who with Sen. Kerr (D-Okl.) are sponsoring the proposal, said during the weekend they expect the amendment to be offered in committee, and then to be fought out on the floor.

Republican leaders expect to beat down this effort with votes to spare, at least in the committee.

The income tax reduction would amount to 4½ billions for this year, through a $200 increase—to $800—in personal exemptions.

Next year and thereafter exemptions would be boosted to $1,000 for a $7,800,000,000 annual cut.

Pontifical Mass
Honors Pius X

VATICAN CITY, May 30 (AP)—The Roman Catholic Church's newest saint — Pius X — was honored today at a pontifical Mass in St. Peter's Basilica. His body, encased in a crystal urn, later was carried in a solemn procession through the streets of Rome to the Basilica of St. Mary Major.

Today's colorful events — at which recently recovered Pope Pius XII appeared publicly five times to give his blessing to cheering throngs — followed the majestic canonization ceremonies yesterday.

Three days of veneration and ceremonies called a triduum, will honor the new saint at St. Mary Major, a shrine to the Virgin Mary.

Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, dean of the College of Cardinals, celebrated the Mass under St. Peter's great dome. The pontifically robed body of Giuseppe Sarto, who had wished only to be a parish priest but who became known in his lifetime as the "Holy Pope," rested over the spot where St. Peter, the apostle and first Pope, was buried nearly 2,000 years ago.

Flier Held In Wave's Death
Returned To Leonardtown

LEONARDTOWN, Md. May 30 (AP)—A Navy aviator who said he escorted a 26-year-old Navy Wave to several night spots the night before she was slain was being returned here today for further questioning in her death.

Carl Willis Strickland, 21, waived extradition after his arrest at his home in Rocky Mount, N. C., yesterday. He said he left the girl alive with an unnamed hitchhiker, picked up, he said, at her request.

The body of the Wave, Irene Marion Conole, was found early Saturday on the beach at Point Lookout, 15 miles from the Patuxent Naval Air Station where both Strickland and Miss Conole were stationed.

Detective Lt. P. C. Zimmerman of the Rocky Mount police said Strickland told him about the hitchhiker during questioning there last night. The officer said Strickland told this story:

He and Miss Conole had been to several night spots Friday night

French Ordered
To Defend Entire
Red River Delta

HANOI, Indochina, May 30 (AP)—The French high command announced today "orders" have been received from Paris to defend all the vital Red River Delta. A reorganization of the vast defense network is under way.

A high command spokesman said the French would have all the necessary means to defend the delta—key to military victory in Indochina—in the face of any "human sea" attack that might be launched by the Communist-led Vietnamese.

The announcement was made as land, air and naval reinforcements poured into or were enroute to Indochina from France.

French Bolster Defenses

The high command spokesman said the French were bolstering their entire defense system in the face of the possibility that the Vietnamese would launch their big assault upon the delta by mid-June.

The French figure that if the Vietnamese, with four divisions coming from the smashed French Union fortress of Dien Bien Phu and with the 100,000 fighters already inside the delta, do not attack within the next two or three weeks, then the probabilities are that there will be no big attack before October, French spokesmen contend that unless the Vietnamese attacks quickly it will find it nearly impossible to mount an all out assault in July or August because of heavy monsoon rains.

No Shortening Of Lines

"All of the delta, including the cities of Hanoi and Haiphong, will be defended just the same as it was after the French reverse at Cao Bang along the border with China in 1950 and our troops were pushed back and formed the present delta perimeter," the French spokesman said.

"There has been no shortening of French Union defense lines within the delta. There will be none. The whole delta will be defended."

Clements Backed
As Demo Leader

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP)—A powerful wing of Senate Democrats is reported lining up behind Sen. Earle C. Clements of Kentucky to succeed Stephen A. Mitchell as Democratic national chairman in what may develop into a battle for control of the party machinery.

Mitchell has announced he will quit sometime after the November elections. Maneuvering already is under way to pick a successor to serve until the 1956 presidential nominating convention.

Party factions have brought forward several names, including those of Paul M. Butler, Indiana national committeeman, and Michael V. Di Salle of Ohio, former price administrator.

Clements has remained in the background in this early speculation but, significantly perhaps, he has been moved into a key position as liaison man between the National Committee and Senate Democrats.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas assigned the Kentuckian to this post and there is every sign Johnson and some other Democrats who go along with him would be happy to see Clements installed later as national chairman.

Aimed At Causing GOP
Rift, Idahoan Asserts

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP)—Sen. Dworshak (R-Idaho) accused Democrats on the Senate Investigations subcommittee today of trying to seize on the McCarthy-Army hearings to stir up trouble in the Republican party.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), acting chairman of the subcommittee, said in a separate interview that while there had been "some unfortunate political furries," he felt there had been relatively little "partisan play and politics."

The televised hearings on the dispute between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and Secretary of the Army Stevens and their aides will be resumed Tuesday after the Memorial Day holiday. They began April 22.

McCarthy has stepped temporarily off the subcommittee while it probes the Army officials' charge that he and his chief counsel, Roy M. Cohn, tried through improper means to win favored treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, a former unpaid subcommittee consultant.

Demo "Tactics" Under Fire

Also under investigation is the countercharge of McCarthy and Cohn that Stevens and Army Counsel John G. Adams used Schine as a "hostage" in an effort to blackmail the subcommittee into dropping a probe into Army handling of alleged Communists.

Dworshak, assigned to take McCarthy's place on the subcommittee, said the "tactics" of the Democratic members during the past week showed a desire to divert attention from the group's responsibility to hear the evidence in the dispute.

"It is apparent that efforts are being made to create a breach between the administration and the Republicans on the subcommittee," he said. "The Democrats are trying to exploit and exaggerate every possible point that might cause dissension and friction in the Republican party."

Democrats Outvoted 4-3

There was no immediate comment from Democrats on the subcommittee. Last week the Democrats raised a cry of "whitewash" when they were outvoted 4-3 on a motion of Dworshak to throw out the charges against two of the original principals in the controversy, Francis P. Carr, regular subcommittee staff director, and Asst. Secretary of defense H. Struve Hensel.

An even stormier row blew up Friday when McCarthy blasted back at a statement of Atty. Gen. Brownell—issued from the White House with President Eisenhower's endorsement—that the executive branch's responsibility for protecting national security "can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or override orders of the President . . ."

McCarthy maintained that federal employees were "duty bound" to give him information, as chairman of a congressional investigating committee, "even though some little bureaucrat stamped it secret to protect himself."

Council engineers estimated 30 million cars were on the move.

Record 363 Killed In 1952

Dearborn said that the council's estimate of 340 traffic deaths for the weekend and the record of 363 traffic fatalities during a three-day Memorial weekend, set in 1952, might be surpassed "if motorists do not make it a point to use extra care."

Many of the fatal accidents were high-speed, head-on smashups. In Illinois which took an early lead in the death statistics, two such crashes took nine lives. One was a calamity on heavily traveled U. S. Rt. 66 near Glenarm in the central part of the state south of Springfield, the state capital which killed five persons. Six persons were injured also in this collision which occurred near midnight Saturday.

Period Ends Midnight Monday

A second crash near Mount Vernon in southern Illinois took four lives and injured three persons critically. One of the dead and two of the maimed were children.

The Memorial weekend survey was listing accidental victims killed between 6 p.m. (local time) Friday and midnight Monday—a 78 hour period.

Last year's two-day Memorial holiday took 385 lives in all types of accidents, 241 in traffic, 98 in drownings, and 46 in other accidents. The actual accident fatality high for any Memorial Day weekend was 571 from all causes in 1950. This covered four days and six hours.

The average number of traffic deaths in the United States the first four months of this year was 88 per day.

East Pakistan
Ministers Are
Fired In CrisisState Of Emergency
Declared In Section
Of Divided Country

KARACHI, Pakistan, May 30 (AP)—Pakistan's governor general dismissed all 14 of East Pakistan's Cabinet ministers today, including the popular chief minister, aged Abdul Kasem Fazlul Huq. He declared a state of emergency as bitter differences between the divided sections of this country came to a head.

Pakistan's Prime Minister Mohammed Ali, a political foe of Fazlul Huq, broadcast to the nation an explanation of the drastic move. He said the ousted minister was a "traitor to Pakistan, even to East Pakistan." The prime minister asserted Fazlul Huq had said his ultimate goal was an independent Bengal (East Pakistan). This, Ali said, was a "disloyal utterance."

Assembly Not Dissolved

First reports said the central government also had dissolved East Pakistan's new Provincial Assembly. Mohammed Ali denied this, saying the Assembly was not affected by the order removing the Cabinet.

Karachi acted under the "governor's rule" followed since British withdrawal from the Indian subcontinent in 1947, whereby the central government can assume the functions of a provincial ministry.

Mohammed Ali said Fazlul Huq had refused to accept advice from the central government and had let "disruptive forces" create confusion, economic chaos, and retard progress in East Pakistan.

Ali said that when Fazlul Huq first conferred with the central government in April, he had complained of the Communist menace in East Pakistan. But at a conference just concluded here, at which Fazlul Huq was accompanied by his government colleagues, he insisted there were no Communists and no communism in his province. The prime minister added it was surprising how the Communists could disappear within a week.

Coalition Had Red Support

The ousted minister's coalition had Communist support in the March elections.

A dispatch from Dacca, East Pakistan's capital, said army units were patrolling that city, with troops guarding the provincial government secretariat, railway station, radio station, central telegraph and telephone offices, power house, and waterworks.

Gov. Gen. Ghulam Mohammed named Maj. Gen. Iskandar Mirza, secretary of the central government's defense ministry, governor of East Pakistan and directed him to take control in the crisis.

French Socialist
Party Backs EDC

PARIS, May 30 (AP)—The French Socialist party voted approval of the European Defense Community Treaty in conference here today.

But then it went into a bitter debate to decide whether it would force reluctant Socialist members of Parliament to vote for the treaty on a threat to evict them from the party.

The vote favoring ratification of EDC was 1,969 to 1,215, with 285 delegates not voting.

Although the convention itself reflected the Socialist party's favoring the treaty, which calls for rearming Germans within a six-nation army, 58 Socialist members of the Assembly have signed a pact to vote against it. Since it is generally agreed the government will need support of about 75 of the 105 Socialist Assembly members to get a majority for the treaty, only a vote of discipline to compel them to follow party orders would help. No date has been set for debate on the treaty and the best guesses are it will not take place for weeks, perhaps months.

Chinese Nationalist
Planes Sink Gunboat

TAIPEI, Formosa, Monday, May 31 (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist air force said its planes bombed and sank a 500-ton Chinese Red gunboat and machine-gunned 21 motorized junks yesterday off the mainland where there has been an outbreak of air and naval activity recently.

The announcement said the attacks were made off Wenchow Bay, Chekiang Province, and that, despite heavy Communist fire, the Nationalist planes got back to their Formosan base.

Tax Slash Nears
Showdown Stage
In Senate Group

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP)—Proposals for a major income tax cut and for lower levies on dividends came up for a vote in the Senate Finance Committee this week as it reaches the showdown stage on a general tax revision bill.

The committee resumes its closed-door work on the measure Tuesday. Chairman Millikin (R-Colo.) expects to finish the job by Friday. The group has been working on the bill almost two months, but major decisions have been left to the last.

In advance of the voting, Republican leaders expressed confidence the measure will be approved in substantially the form it was asked by President Eisenhower and voted by the House.

Demos To Renew Battle

But Democratic members prepared to renew in the Senate the battle they lost in the House—to eliminate some sections they say favor the rich and to increase the tax exemption for dependents, which would cut taxes sharply for those with small incomes and large families.

The increased exemption originally was pushed as a means of increasing buying power to offset fears of a recession early this year.

There have been some reports the sponsors were cooling off toward the plan, because of current business conditions and because of the international situation which could create a need for more revenues for defense.

Democrats See Floor Fight

But Sen. George (D-Ga.) and Sen. Frear (D-Del.), who with Sen. Kerr (D-Okla.) are sponsoring the proposal, said during the weekend they expect the amendment to be offered in committee, and then to be fought out on the floor.

Republican leaders expect to beat down this effort with votes to spare, at least in the committee.

The income tax reduction would amount to 4½ billions for this year, through a $200 increase to $809 in personal exemptions.

Next year and thereafter exemptions would be boosted to $1,000 for a $7,800,000,000 annual cut.

RALEIGH, N.C., May 30 (AP)—Kerr Scott, a colorful dairy farmer and former governor, yesterday won the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator from North Carolina.

He defeated Sen. Alton Lennon in the state's Democratic primary, surviving a last-minute campaign flurry in which Lennon supporters attempted to use the race issue against him.

Actor Kirk Douglas
Weds Parisienne

LAS VEGAS, Nev., May 30 (AP)—Actor Kirk Douglas surprised Hollywood last night by appearing before a justice of the peace in Las Vegas and taking an attractive Parisienne brunette as his bride.

The rugged movie hero and Anne Buydens, 31-year-old publicity representative for film productions, were married in a suite of the Hotel Sahara, one of Las Vegas' tancy casinos.

Douglas, 37, met her in Italy last year while he was acting in the movie "Ulysses" and she was doing publicity work for the film. Each has been married once before.

Pontifical Mass
Honors Pius X

VATICAN CITY, May 30 (AP)—The Roman Catholic Church's newest saint — Pius X — was honored today at a pontifical Mass in St. Peter's Basilica. His body, encased in a crystal urn, later was carried in a solemn procession through the streets of Rome to the Basilica of St. Mary Major.

Today's colorful events — at which recently recovered Pope Pius XII appeared publicly five times to give his blessing to cheering throngs — followed the majestic canonization ceremonies yesterday.

Three days of veneration and ceremonies called a triduum, will honor the new saint at St. Mary Major, a shrine to the Virgin Mary.

Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, dean of the College of Cardinals, celebrated the Mass under St. Peter's. He is sponsoring the proposal, said during the weekend they expect the amendment to be offered in committee, and then to be fought out on the floor.

Flier Held In Wave's Death
Returned To Leonardtown

LEONARDTOWN, Md., May 30 (AP)—A Navy aviator who said he escorted a 26-year-old Navy Wave to several night spots the night before she was slain was being returned here today for further questioning in her death.

Carl Willis Strickland, 21, waived extradition after his arrest at his home in Rocky Mount, N. C., yesterday. He said he left the girl alive with an unnamed hitchhiker, picked up, he said, at her request.

The body of the Wave, Irene Marion Conole, was found early Saturday on the beach at Point Lookout, 15 miles from the Patuxent Naval Air Station where both Strickland and Miss Conole were stationed.

Detective Lt. P. C. Zimmerman of the Rocky Mount police said Strickland told him about the hitchhiker during questioning there last night. The officer said Strickland told this story:

He and Miss Conole had been to several night spots Friday night

French Ordered
To Defend Entire
Red River Delta

HANOI, Indochina, May 30 (AP)—The French high command announced today "orders" have been received from Paris to defend all the vital Red River Delta. A reorganization of the vast defense network is under way.

A high command spokesman said the French would have all the necessary means to defend the delta—key to military victory in Indochina—in the face of any "human sea" attack that might be launched by the Communist-led Vietnamese.

The announcement was made as land, air and naval reinforcements poured into or were enroute to Indochina from France.

French Bolster Defenses

The high command spokesman said the French were bolstering their entire defense system in the face of the possibility that the Vietnamese would launch their big assault upon the delta by mid-June.

The French figure that if the Vietnamese, with four divisions coming from the smashed French Union fortress of Dien Bien Phu and with the 100,000 fighters already inside the delta, do not attack within the next two or three weeks, then the probabilities are that there will be no big attack before October. French spokesmen contend that unless the Vietnamese attacks quickly it will find it nearly impossible to mount an all out assault in July or August because of heavy monsoon rains.

No Shortening Of Lines

"All of the delta, including the cities of Hanoi and Haiphong, will be defended just the same as it was after the French reverse at Cao Bang along the border with China in 1950 and our troops were pushed back and formed the present delta perimeter," the French spokesman said.

"There has been no shortening of French Union defense lines within the delta. There will be none. The whole delta will be defended."

Sen. Dworshak
Says Political
Gain Is SoughtDemocrats' "Tactics"
Aimed At Causing GOP
Rift, Idahoan Asserts

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP)—Sen. Dworshak (R-Idaho) accused Democrats on the Senate Investigations subcommittee today of trying to seize on the McCarthy-Army hearings to stir up trouble in the Republican party.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), acting chairman of the subcommittee, said in a separate interview that while there had been "some unfortunate political flurries," he felt there had been relatively little "partisan byplay and politics."

The televised hearings on the dispute between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and Secretary of the Army Stevens and their aides will be resumed Tuesday after the Memorial Day holiday. They began April 22.

McCarthy has stepped temporarily off the subcommittee while it probes the Army officials' charge that he and his chief counsel, Roy M. Cohn, tried through improper means to win favored treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, a former unpaid subcommittee consultant.

Demo "Tactics" Under Fire

Also under investigation is the countercharge of McCarthy and Cohn that Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams used Schine as a "hostage" in an effort to blackmail the subcommittee into dropping a probe into Army handling of alleged Communists.

Dworshak, assigned to take McCarthy's place on the subcommittee for the duration of the probe, said the "tactics" of the Democratic members during the past week showed a desire to divert attention from the group's responsibility to hear the evidence in the dispute.

"It is apparent that efforts are being made to create a breach between the administration and the Republicans on the subcommittee," he said. "The Democrats are trying to exploit and exaggerate every possible point that might cause dissension and friction in the Republican party."

Democrats Outvoted 4-3

There was no immediate comment from Democrats on the subcommittee. Last week the Democrats raised a cry of "whitewash" when they were outvoted 4-3 on a motion of Dworshak to throw out the charges against two of the original principals in the controversy, Francis P. Carr, regular subcommittee staff director, and Asst. Secretary of defense H. Straus Hensel.

An even stormier row blew up Friday when McCarthy blasted back at a statement of Atty. Gen. Brownell—issued from the White House with President Eisenhower's endorsement—that the executive branch's responsibility for protecting national security "can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or override orders of the President . . ."

McCarthy maintained that federal employees were "duty bound" to give him information, as chairman of a congressional investigating committee, "even though some little bureaucrat stamped it secret to protect himself."

Clements Backed
As Demo Leader

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP)—A powerful wing of Senate Democrats is reported lining up behind Sen. Earle C. Clements of Kentucky to succeed Stephen A. Mitchell as Democratic national chairman in what may develop into a battle for control of the party machinery.

Mitchell has announced he will quit sometime after the November elections. Maneuvering already is under way to pick a successor to serve until the 1956 presidential nominating convention.

Party factions have brought forward several names, including those of Paul M. Butler, Indiana national committeeman, and Michael V. Di Salle of Ohio, former price administrator.

Clements has remained in the background in this early speculation but, significantly perhaps, he has been moved into a key position as liaison man between the National Committee and Senate Democrats.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas assigned the Kentuckian to this post and there is every sign Johnson and some other Democrats who go along with him would be happy to see Clements installed later as national chairman.

Keyser Kiwanis Hear Reports On Activities

KEYSER—Keyser Kiwanis Club received reports from two members on current matters of interest locally, at the regular dinner-meeting Wednesday evening, in First Methodist Church dining room. John Minnich, who represented the club at the Industrial Development conference at West Virginia University last week, reported on highlights of the session which was state-wide. He referred to coal production in this state, adding that despite many mines in the state not operating, there is not much less coal mined than a year ago, adding that under modern production more coal can be mined now with fewer men than heretofore. The problem for the state, he said, is to find other work for the idle miners.

William Stafford, secretary of the club, gave a report on the Keyser swimming pool history as conducted from its inception, which was started in WPA days. He referred to the reasons for delay, among which was the necessity of the city to provide money for the building of the fire hall. Money which otherwise would have gone toward the swimming pool project, The pool work was set aside several times.

Gary Van Meter, graduate of Potomac State College and president of the Circle K Club for the past year, said he wished to thank the Kiwanis Club for its interest and assistance in the Circle K and for the social activities provided in which the college group was able to participate. Arnold Sliger made his final report on the Cancer Crusade conducted here under sponsorship of the Kiwanians and Circle K. Club. Bernard Jackson, Keyser, was a guest of the club.

Does your figure require "shaping up" for the swimsuit season? Exercise is the answer!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Ever since the day fabric in swimsuits was reduced to a practical minimum for swimming, the swimsuits have posed a figure problem. The suit can't "just hang" on your frame, nor should it look as though there were too much of your poured into it. The fashion must be right for the figure, and the figure equally flattering to the swimsuit.

Tomorrow we'll talk about swim fashions. Today let's concentrate on the "figger" and how you can improve upon its contours.

I'll just mention diet briefly, for I know you're conscious of this important factor governing your good looks. If it's trimming down you require to bring those looks into line, hold your daily calorie quota under 1500; for plus pounds, a daily minimum of 3200 calories.

Diet Plus

Pair your balanced diet with exercise. These routines from my physical education laboratory will help shape you up for the sun days.

1. For firming the bosom, sit with arms raised straight overhead. Curl your fingers as if to grasp an imaginary rod. Slowly bend your elbows and pull your arms down until your elbows almost touch each other at chest level. Relax, and repeat 15 times a day, at the beginning. Increase to 50 times as soon as that count does not fatigue you.

2. For a smoother midriff, lie flat on the floor with arms outstretched at shoulder level. Pull your knees up to your chest. Slowly straighten legs together so you feel the pull in your abdomen and back. Do this 12 times at first, increasing as you can.

3. For reducing the hips, lie flat on the floor, arms outstretched parallel with the shoulders, knees bent. Swing your knees left, then right, coming as near the floor as you can on each side. Let your hips roll. Do this exercise to music so you'll acquire a real swing as you touch the knees on either side 15 to 20 times.

Pull On Muscles

You'll feel quite a lot of pull on the muscles when you do these exercises correctly. You may even be stiff and sore at first, but as the routines become easier and you begin to see results, you'll be glad you put up with those early aching muscles.

The effect of these figure refiners is lost unless exercise and diet are abetted by erect posture. Slouching can make the most stylish of swimsuits look unstylish, so hold your chest up, straighten your back, tuck your hips under... stand tall!

It's Important That You Vote

The people of Cumberland tomorrow have the opportunity to go to the polls and nominate the candidates who will vie again in two weeks for the right to administer city affairs for the next four years.

In the past, Cumberland's mayor and council have been elected for two-year terms, but this year's election has the added importance of voters choosing their leaders for four years instead of the usual two.

Cumberland may be considered now to be at another critical stage in its long and honored history, so it becomes necessary for all of us to give our most careful consideration to the choice of candidates we wish to nominate.

It is conceded that all of the candidates want to do their utmost to improve the economic conditions of the city because that is vital to the welfare of everyone of us.

That is the big factor at stake at the polls tomorrow and again in two weeks. And that is the reason we should vote for the people we sincerely believe to be the best qualified to represent us in the conduct of city affairs.

We should set aside petty jealousies and picayune grievances we may have against any of the candidates and arrive at a decision on the basis of their fundamental abilities.

One of the adjuncts to fostering improved economic health and acquiring new industry is capable administration of the city affairs with smoothly working machinery.

This is no time for an administration like the legendary mountain that labored mightily and brought forth a mouse.

Help Cumberland, help yourself. Vote. When you mark your ballot be sure you are voting for those candidates you believe have the best qualifications to give Cumberland the leadership it needs and deserves.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The New Concentration

The greatest danger to the capitalist system is monopoly, particularly money monopoly. Therefore in every capitalist country it is essential to take measures to prevent the concentration of wealth, which is not only dangerous economically but politically. The joining of vast wealth with political power can destroy the essential characteristic of a free system, which is equality of opportunity.

In the late 19th Century and early years of the 20th Century, the fear was that wealth was being concentrated in what in those days were called trusts, combinations in restraint of trade, groups of individuals or corporations which combined either to control a commodity or the method of distributing that commodity. Associations of banks and corporations, of powerful groups of financiers with powerful groups of industrialists were broken up after a series of congressional investigations, acts of Congress and decisions of the courts.

Currently new concentrations of wealth have appeared which imperil the economy of the nation. In some respects, these new concentrations result from the laws designed to prevent them; in others they are the product of income and inheritance tax laws.

These may be placed into five categories:

1. Life insurance companies;
2. The welfare funds;
3. Pension funds of various types;
4. Untaxed funds of labor unions;
5. Foundations.

1. Most life insurance companies are mutual associations owned by their policyholders, who benefit by dividends which often reduce the cost of the policy to the purchaser. The prolongation of life in the United States has strengthened the reserves of the life insurance companies.

Most of the insurance companies have adopted progressive social attitudes, utilizing their funds in the provision of needed new housing and in distributing capital for sound purposes. Nevertheless, the capital reserves of these companies are extraordinarily large, in some respects representing the largest reserves in the country.

2. Welfare funds are a newer social device to which often the employer and the employee contribute. The methods of gathering and distributing these funds vary. In some cases, the labor unions control the funds. There have been no adequate investigations of these funds nor are they regulated either to protect the beneficiaries or the public.

3. Pension funds are very complicated and varied. They all arise from the fact that people live longer. From the standpoint of industry, a man is regarded as old when he reaches 65; many persons outlive that year and are even capable of important mental and physical work after the age of 65. Companies which have established a retirement age, either for executives or workers, often provide a pension system to make separation from work easier and their later years more secure. An interesting book on this subject, "Industrial Pensions," by Charles L. Dearing, has just been published by The Brookings Institution.

In relation to this subject, a few statistics are interesting. In 1900, 4.1 per cent of the American population was 65 years and over; in 1930, it was 5.4 per cent; in 1950, it was 8.2 per cent. The expectancy is that in 1960 it will be 9.2 per cent. This means that the pension load on industry will increase and the reserves for such pensions will grow ever larger.

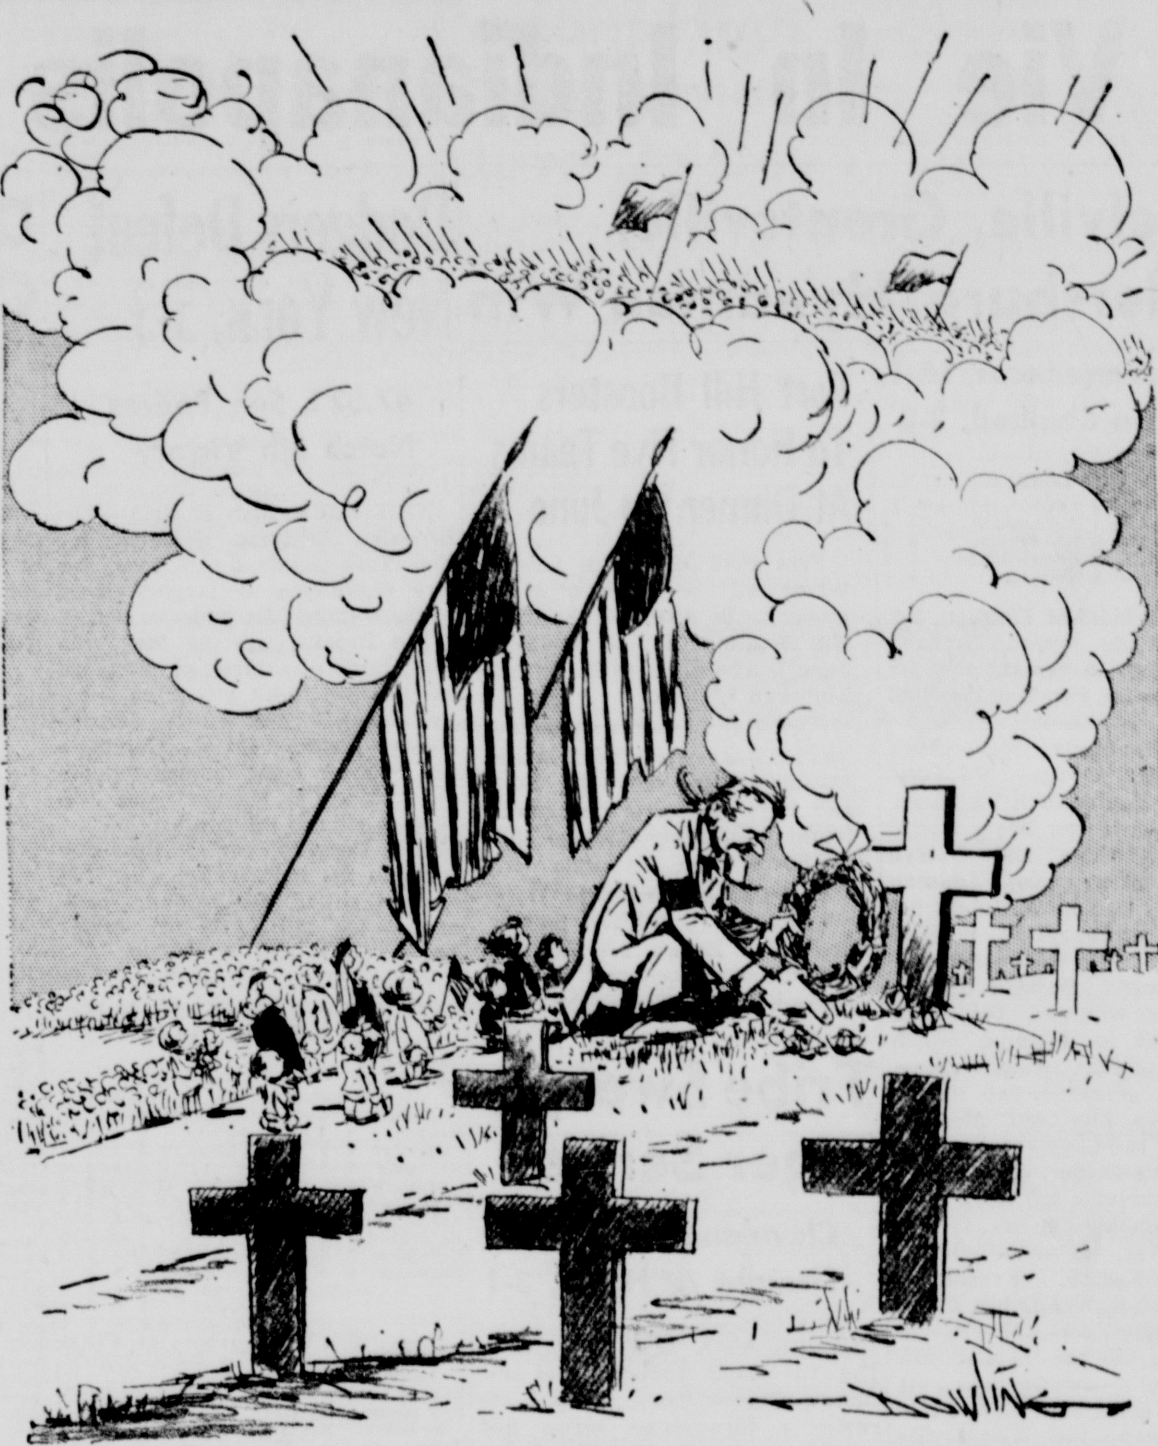

4. Labor unions have been accumulating funds in enormous quantities, running sometimes into hundreds of millions of dollars. Some of these funds are invested in real estate and in industry. None of it is subject to income tax. The more honest and efficient the management of a labor union, the larger the accumulation of its funds. While many unions issue annual reports, these funds are not often subject to any control, not even by the members of the unions. These vast treasures are being used politically, in contrast with corporations, which are forbidden to engage in such processes.

5. The foundations usually represent the accumulations of wealth by men who are dead—although there are some which are established by men who are alive. These enormous funds may only be used for public purposes, for the improvement of society. They do make investments to protect their funds. A sort of combination exists among the managers of these funds through associations of their own devising or through joint subsidies to organizations and institutions. The foundations are now being investigated by a congressional committee.

This whole subject needs to be studied not antagonistically but so that all the facts may be available.

America Remembers Its Honored Dead

Eisenhower Administration Suffering From Bad Press

WASHINGTON

The last fortnight has produced a new trend which greatly and quite rightly worries the White House. For the first time, the Eisenhower administration is experiencing a bad press.

The real cause for worry is not that many of the old pro-Taft group of newspapers have now progressed from mild complaint to open vilification. What really hurts is that criticisms are beginning to be heard from the administration's staunchest supporters.

In an already-famous editorial, the Scripps-Howard chain has warned the President to give stronger leadership "or he will be run over by an ox-cart." The same theme has been more politely struck in a forceful editorial by John S. Knight, "Time," which used to lead the cheering section and has chimed in too. And John Cowles, while not criticizing the President personally, has made a remarkable speech criticizing the President's foreign policy.

These reluctant criticisms come from warm friends of the Eisenhower administration, who want, above all, to see the administration succeed. In three of the four cases, the finger of blame has been pointed at the President himself, which is a phenomenon, which needs explaining.

In part, the explanation is obvious. The Eisenhower administration tried to luck through the McCarthy problem and the Indochina problem. Its luck did not hold in either case, as was predictable.

Best Friends Worried

Great political problems are somewhat like cancer in one respect. The longer you postpone the operation, the more painful and dangerous it becomes. Because there was a long attempt to luck through on McCarthy and Indochina, the operations are being immensely painful and unpleasant. Things are going badly, and the administration's best friends are naturally worried.

In part, too, the explanation of the new criticism of the President undoubtedly lies in the President's own character. Lord Action once remarked, with the searing cynicism that can only be achieved by a deeply moral thinker, that "all great men are bad men." Anyone can see that Eisenhower is the very opposite of a bad man.

He would not want to be, and the country would not want him to be, the kind of unscrupulous, ruthless and Napoleonic figure that Lord Action really had in mind. But it is also true that Eisenhower plainly dislikes the brutal rough and tumble that is a feature of our political life. Hence, quite often, he is working in a medium he does not enjoy.

All the same, there is a deeper cause of the administration's suddenly bad press than the recent unfavorable turn of events, or the admirable traits of the President's character which hamper him in the ugly job of political leadership.

It is time for somebody to say it, and it may as well be said here and now. The Eisenhower administration is just about as bad at explaining itself to the American public as former Secretary of State Dean A. Acheson. They have herds of television experts and the like, but they firmly persist in making all the same mistakes that got Acheson into trouble.

Many Factors Help To Determine A Suitable Vacation

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Most of us regard a vacation as a prescription for health and ideally, it should offer rest and relaxation. But all too often the individual returns to work more tired and in worse physical condition than when he left.

Everyone has a different idea as to what constitutes a wonderful vacation. Younger groups want an active good time. This is understandable because they have not reached an age where responsibility hangs heavy on their heads, hence they do not crave rest and relaxation. Furthermore, the elasticity of youth permits them to bounce back with renewed vigor even though they swim all day and dance all night.

With each succeeding decade the need for rest and relaxation increases. Middle-aged and older men and women must recognize their limitations if they expect to benefit from a vacation. For this group, the holiday period ought to build up resistance for months to come and add to the reserve in case of emergency.

It is not easy to relax and forget the job after keeping the nose to the grindstone for 11 consecutive months. It is here that diversions such as fishing, boating, camping, bathing, and traveling help to make the vacation successful. No one can worry about those back orders when the bass are biting and Old Faithful begins spouting. The quiet period preceding dusk in the forest and on the lake is made for meditation; at such a time we realize there is more to life than working and making money.

The first few days of the vacation are crucial in learning to loaf. Some vacationers "shoot the works" on reaching their destination and pay a heavy penalty for their folly. Many a man has wrenched his back, pulled a leg muscle, or even sustained a heart attack by forgetting to act his age on reaching a resort or ranch. The hazards associated with a typical vacationland must be avoided. Particular attention should be paid to clean food and water. Some vacation spots put on a front but fail to provide sanitary kitchens and plumbing. Insects, rodents, and

Pistol-Packing Joe McCarthy Mystifies Senators Who Checked His Finances

By Drew Pearson

(Editor's Note—Drew Pearson today writes another column in his series on Senator McCarthy—this time dealing with his gun, his fondness for Pepsi-Cola and his finances.)

WASHINGTON — The senators who meticulously plowed through Senator McCarthy's weird financial setup two years ago today are mystified.

First they are mystified that McCarthy has got himself in the position of testifying under oath; second about the shoulder holster which the senator wears on the floor of the Senate.

This is the first time in recent history that a U. S. senator has appeared in the Senate packing a gun.

Actually, McCarthy has no police permit to carry a gun, but District of Columbia police have chosen to ignore the fact. They find it convenient to assume he has a Wisconsin permit. Meanwhile they are giving him two bodyguards, which makes pistol-packing Joe better protected than the vice president of the United States.

Senators hope, however, that Joe will not get as vindictive on the Senate floor as he was when they probed his finances; for at that time he was not only bitter, but ducked, stalled, and refused to testify.

"Senator McCarthy was invited to attend the Senate subcommittee hearings on six occasions," the final, unanimous Senate report stated. "For reason known only to Senator McCarthy, he chose not to accept this course but to smear that the allegations were a charge and that the subcommittee was dishonest and doing the work of Communists."

"Between October 1951 and April 1952," the report continued, "he referred to honor the invitations of the subcommittee . . . on the ground that its members were dishonest."

When witnesses have refused to testify before his committee McCarthy has denounced them, sometimes calling them "Fifth Amendment Communists."

Joe Rebuffed

The Senate committee which probed McCarthy did not denounce him. Instead Senator Carl Hayden, chairman of the Rules Committee and one of the oldest and most respected members of the Senate, went before the entire Senate and asked for a vote of confidence in the committee's honesty and its proper jurisdiction over the McCarthy probe.

The Senate voted unanimously and overwhelmingly, 60 to 0, to support the committee's probe of their colleague's finances.

Despite this, McCarthy refused to appear before the committee to answer a single question. Senator Benton of Connecticut did appear and testified fully. But McCarthy continued to duck, alibi, and malign this fellow senators.

When you look over the official report of his finances you can understand why.

Previous columns have already reported how McCarthy siphoned $10,000 out of money advanced him to fight communism and used it to speculate on the soybean market; also how he paid his own income tax and other personal matters from the bank account in which anti-Communist funds were deposited. Here is the further record of how McCarthy, once $170,029.03 in debt, got out of trouble with his bank.

A $10,000 Expert

One of Joe's first committee assignments when he came to Washington was on the Banking and Currency Committee where he became vice chairman of a subcommittee on housing. In this capacity he could influence housing contracts and government loans through the power of Senate investigations.

After getting Federal Housing Administrator Foley to help him prepare a brief and sketchy article on housing he tried to sell it—without success. Various publishers refused to buy.

This was in March and April 1948. During that year Joe was getting persistent demands from his bank in Appleton, Wis. They increased in October. In October also, the Lustron Corporation which had been selling pre-fab houses to the government under a $50,000,000 RFC loan, was slated for Senate investigation. Senator McCarthy was a member of the investigating committee.

"McCarthy approached Strandlund (president of Lustron) during October of 1948," the unanimous Senate report states, "setting a price of $10,000 for his housing manuscript which was not in publishable form."

"Strandlund agreed to it," continued the Senate committee, "without any prior consultation with his public relations or executive staff, or notification to the RFC, and at a time when Lustron had not completed its machinery and tooling operation."

No wonder the Senate committee asked: "How can Senator McCarthy justify acceptance of a $10,000 fee from Lustron, which in effect was a fee paid out of public funds?" "Did Senator McCarthy," the committee also asked, "take advantage of Lustron's sensitive position and its need for continued government financing to induce its president to pay a fee, set by him at $10,000 for a manuscript which was neither finished nor in publishable form?"

Pepsi-Cola Lover

The Senate committee also challenged McCarthy's love for Pepsi-Cola and a bill he introduced in Congress to end wartime sugar rationing at a time when Pepsi-Cola demanded the end of rationing.

Following this, Russell Arundel, a local representative of Pepsi-Cola, went on McCarthy's note for $20,000.

This caused the Senate committee to ask in its final report: "Was there any relationship between Arundel's endorsement of McCarthy's $20,000 note and McCarthy's special appearance to interrogate the Army secretary on December 9, 1947, before the Committee on Appropriations regarding the Army's purchase of sugar, which purchase previously had been criticized by Pepsi-Cola?"

McCarthy's not for $20,000 had been endorsed by Pepsi-Cola's representative on December 8. His cross-examination of the Army secretary for Pepsi-Cola occurred on December 9.

These are some of the unexplained facts and unanswered questions raised by the Senate committee which probed Senator McCarthy more than two years ago, and about which Attorney General Brownell has done nothing whatsoever — except authorize a public statement white-washing McCarthy.

What About The Schools?

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass — Schools and colleges cannot be divorced from business. In the long run, business has only the kind of leaders and workers that the schools produce. Today, many business and educational leaders are expressing concern about the educational product. Free public education appears to be watering down our great tradition of discipline and struggle.

Yet, others say that while we have taught people how to make money, we have failed to teach them how to use it properly. The most damning criticism is that our system is one of education for mediocrity; we pull the bright child downward as we drag the dull child upward. This results in a mediocrity of conformity.

Army-McCarthy Hearings

President Eisenhower said only last December that he has been "appalled" at the lack of our youth's understanding of "what America is, what are the conditions that could make her fight, and therefore, what are the underlying reasons that could lead that boy finally on the battlefield to risk his life, not just for property, not just for even what you might call national rights, but for some fundamental values in life."

As businessmen and as educators, we have been unwilling to be clear and coherent about what we want the United States to be. Consequently, the confusion in the schools and among businessmen is getting worse and worse. The Army-McCarthy hearings in Washington are an illustration of this useless confusion.

Since businessmen say our youth are coming to know less and less about less and less, perhaps a research project to determine exactly what our schools do teach might be a starting point. This might be followed by a movement to overhaul courses of study in the light of what research may reveal would best serve the interests of all.

What About Discipline?

Discipline is a major national need. General S. L. A. Marshall of the Detroit News, intimates that our soldiers on the Korean battle-front lacked discipline—which had something to do with the way things went in Korea. There are further implications that lack of discipline in our schools contributes to juvenile delinquency and is a threat to our national security.

Are these the real problems or are they the symptoms of a fundamental problem? May it not be that inability to comply with regulations, whether of the Army, the home, or the community, stems from lack of self-mastery? Should not our society develop people with qualities of self-discipline to develop initiative and intelligence?

Shortage of Teachers

The teacher shortage is another problem. During 1954, it is indicated there will be a shortage of 72,000 teachers in our elementary schools alone. In the next three years, 45 states will run short of elementary teachers and 20 states will find themselves short of high school teachers. On October 12, 1953, Newsweek reported that "in the past year, 60,000 teachers left the field."

This is in also with a New York Times editorial of last August which discusses the Summit, N. J. high school teacher who left his $85 per week teaching job to drive a brewery truck at $137.50 per week. Obviously, there are some problems here.

Businessmen's Needs

Or, for the businessman there are such problem areas as executive development programs; research on personnel selection techniques; problems of industrial morale, diet, and health; union management relations; more effective distribution of goods—these and a multitude of others should be research and training areas.

I am really writing this column as a "trial balloon" to locate readers who are willing to give time toward a solution. The curse of both education and business today is indifference. Some non-profit organization may be needed to help bring these changes about. I greatly feel the need, but do not know how to bring it about. Suggestions from readers will be appreciated. Address me at Babson Park 37, Massachusetts.

It's Important That You Vote

The people of Cumberland tomorrow have the opportunity to go to the polls and nominate the candidates who will vie again in two weeks for the right to administer city affairs for the next four years.

In the past, Cumberland's mayor and council have been elected for two-year terms, but this year's election has the added importance of voters choosing their leaders for four years instead of the usual two.

Cumberland may be considered now to be at another critical stage in its long and honored history, so it becomes necessary for all of us to give our most careful consideration to the choice of candidates we wish to nominate.

It is conceded that all of the candidates want to do their utmost to improve the economic conditions of the city because that is vital to the welfare of everyone of us.

That is the big factor at stake at the polls tomorrow and again in two weeks. And that is the reason we should vote for the people we sincerely believe to be the best qualified to represent us in the conduct of city affairs.

We should set aside petty jealousies and pique grievances we may have against any of the candidates and arrive at a decision on the basis of their fundamental abilities.

One of the adjuncts to fostering improved economic health and acquiring new industry is capable administration of the city affairs with smoothly working machinery.

This is no time for an administration like the legendary mountain that labored mightily and brought forth a mouse.

Help Cumberland, help yourself. Vote. When you mark your ballot be sure you are voting for those candidates you believe have the best qualifications to give Cumberland the leadership it needs and deserves.

"I'm just a'sittin' and a'warmin' at the stove."

The irate sheriff turned on the fourth, who was caught with the whole deck of cards in his hand. "At least, you can't deny you was playing," he shouted.

"Me, sheriff," was the answer, in a tone of deep hurt. "Who'd I be a-playin' with?"

Pistol-Packing Joe McCarthy Mystifies Senators Who Checked His Finances

By Drew Pearson

(Editor's Note—Drew Pearson today writes another column in his series on Senator McCarthy—this time dealing with his gun, his fondness for Pepsi-Cola and his finances.)

WASHINGTON — The senators who meticulously plowed through Senator McCarthy's weird financial setup two years ago today are mystified.

First they are mystified that McCarthy has got himself in the position of testifying under oath; second about the shoulder holster which the senator wears on the floor of the Senate.

This is the first time in recent history that a U. S. senator has appeared in the Senate packing a gun.

Actually, McCarthy has no police permit to carry a gun, but District of Columbia police have chosen to ignore the fact. They find it convenient to assume he has a Wisconsin permit. Meanwhile they are giving him two bodyguards, which makes pistol-packing Joe better protected than the vice president of the United States.

Senators hope, however, that Joe will not get as vindictive on the Senate floor as he was when they probed his finances; for at that time he was not only bitter, but ducked, stalled, and refused to testify.

"Senator McCarthy was invited to attend the Senate subcommittee hearings on six occasions," the final, unanimous Senate report stated. "For reason known only to Senator McCarthy, he chose not to accept this course but to charge that the allegations were a smear and that the subcommittee was dishonest and doing the work of Communists."

"Between October 1951 and April 1952," the report continued, "he refused to honor the invitations of the subcommittee . . . on the ground that its members were dishonest."

When witnesses have refused to testify before his committee McCarthy has denounced them, sometimes calling them "Fifth Amendment Communists."

Joe Rebuffed

The Senate committee which probed McCarthy did not denounce him. Instead Senator Carl Hayden, chairman of the Rules Committee and one of the oldest and most respected members of the Senate, went before the entire Senate and asked for a vote of confidence in the committee's honesty and its proper jurisdiction over the McCarthy probe.

The Senate voted unanimously and overwhelmingly, 60 to 0, to support the committee's probe of their colleague's finances.

Despite this, McCarthy refused to appear before the committee to answer a single question. Senator Benton of Connecticut did appear and testified fully. But McCarthy continued to duck, alibi, and malign this fellow senator.

When you look over the official report of his finances you can understand why.

Previous columns have already reported how McCarthy siphoned $10,000 out of money advanced him to fight communism and used it to speculate on the soybean market; also how he paid his own income tax and other personal matters from the bank account in which anti-Communist funds were deposited.

Here is the further record of how McCarthy, once $170,029.03 in debt, got out of trouble with his bank.

A $10,000 Expert

One of Joe's first committee assignments when he came to Washington was on the Banking and Currency Committee where he became vice chairman of a subcommittee on housing. In this capacity he could influence housing contracts and government loans through the power of Senate investigations.

After getting Federal Housing Administrator Foley to help him prepare a brief and sketchy article on housing he tried to sell it—without success. Various publishers refused to buy.

This was in March and April 1948. During that year Joe was getting persistent demands from his bank in Appleton, Wis. They increased in October. In October also, the Lustron Corporation which had been selling pre-fab houses to the government under a $50,000,000 RFC loan, was slated for Senate investigation. Senator McCarthy was a member of the investigating committee.

"McCarthy approached Strandlund (president of Lustron) during October of 1948," the unanimous Senate report states, "setting a price of $10,000 for his housing manuscript which was not in publishable form."

"Strandlund agreed to it," continued the Senate committee, "without any prior consultation with his public relations or executive staff, or notification to the RFC, and at a time when Lustron had not completed its machinery and tooling operation."

No wonder the Senate committee asked: "How can Senator McCarthy justify acceptance of a $10,000 fee from Lustron, which in effect was a fee paid out of public funds?"

"Did Senator McCarthy," the committee also asked, "take advantage of Lustron's sensitive position and its need for continued government financing to induce its president to pay a fee, set by him at $10,000 for a manuscript which was neither finished nor in publishable form?"

Pepsi-Cola Lover

The Senate committee also charged McCarthy's love for Pepsi-Cola and a bill he introduced in Congress to end wartime sugar rationing at a time when Pepsi-Cola demanded the end of rationing.

Following this, Russell Arundel, a local representative of Pepsi-Cola, went on McCarthy's note for $20,000.

This caused the Senate committee to ask in its final report: "Was there any relationship between Arundel's endorsement of McCarthy's $20,000 note and McCarthy's special appearance to interrogate the Army secretary on December 9, 1947, before the Committee on Appropriations regarding the Army's purchase of sugar, which purchase previously had been criticized by Pepsi-Cola?"

McCarthy's not for $20,000 had been endorsed by Pepsi-Cola's representative on December 8. His cross-examination of the Army secretary for Pepsi-Cola occurred on December 9.

These are some of the unexplained facts and unanswered questions raised by the Senate committee which probed Senator McCarthy more than two years ago, and about which Attorney General Brownell has done nothing whatsoever — except authorize a public statement white-washing McCarthy.

What About The Schools?

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass. — Schools and colleges cannot be divorced from business. In the long run, business has only the kind of leaders and workers that the schools produce. Today, many business and educational leaders are expressing concern about the educational product. Free public education appears to be watering down our great tradition of discipline and struggle.

Yet, others say that while we have taught people how to make money, we have failed to teach them how to use it properly. The most damning criticism is that our system is one of education for mediocrity; we pull the bright child downward as we drag the dull child upward. This results in a mediocrity of conformity.

Army-McCarthy Hearings

President Eisenhower said only last December that he has been "appalled" at the lack of our youth's understanding of "what America is, what are the conditions that could make her fight, and therefore, what are the underlying reasons that could lead that boy finally on the battlefield to risk his life, not just for property, not just for even what you might call national rights, but for some fundamental values in life."

As businessmen and as educators, we have been unwilling to be clear and coherent about what we want the United States to be. Consequently, the confusion in the schools and among businessmen is getting worse and worse. The Army-McCarthy hearings in Washington are an illustration of this useless confusion.

Since businessmen say our youth are coming to know less and less about less and less, perhaps a research project to determine exactly what our schools do teach might be a starting point. This might be followed by a movement to overhaul courses of study in the light of what research may reveal would best serve the interests of all.

What About Discipline?

Discipline is a major national need. General S. L. A. Marshall of the Detroit News, intimates that our soldiers on the Korean battle-

front lacked discipline—which had something to do with the way things went in Korea. There are further implications that lack of discipline in our schools contributes to juvenile delinquency and is a threat to our national security.

Are these the real problems or are they the symptoms of a fundamental problem? May it not be that inability to comply with regulations, whether of the Army, the home, or the community, stems from lack of self-mastery? Should not our society develop people with qualities of self-discipline to develop initiative and intelligence?

Shortage of Teachers

The teacher shortage is another problem. During 1954, it is indicated there will be a shortage of 72,000 teachers in our elementary schools alone. In the next three years, 45 states will run short of elementary teachers and 20 states will find themselves short of high school teachers. On October 12, 1953, Newsweek reported that "in the past year, 60,000 teachers left the field."

This is in also with a New York Times editorial of last August which discusses the Summit, N. J. high school teacher who left his $85 per week teaching job to drive a brewery truck at $137.50 per week. Obviously, there are some problems here.

Businessmen's Needs

Or, for the businessman there are such problem areas as executive development programs; research on personnel selection techniques; problems of industrial morale, diet, and health; union management relations; more effective distribution of goods—these and a multitude of others should be research and training areas.

I am really writing this column as a "trial balloon" to locate readers who are willing to give time toward a solution. The curse of both education and business today is indifference. Some non-profit organization may be needed to help bring these changes about. I greatly feel the need, but do not know how to bring it about. Suggestions from readers will be appreciated. Address me at Babson Park 57, Massachusetts.

An insurance companies' report reveals that 1953 was the worst year on record for violent windstorms. What puzzles Grandpappy Jenkins is there were no national political campaigns in progress, either!

A Long Islander, according to a sports item, has imported English lugworms which he plans to use for bait. How does he know an American fish will go for a strictly European cuisine?

We're making progress at home. The red and yellow Easter eggs are gone and we're half way through the blues and greens.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 30 (INS).—Twenty-year-old, blonde Shirley Jones is right out of the book for Laurie in "Oklahoma." Arthur Hornblow says she comes from Smithtown, Penn., with less than 600 inhabitants, and 13 people on her party telephone line.

Hornblow says they made tests of Shirley in New York and additional tests were made here, and out of the hundreds made, he and Fred Zinnemann said, "That's the girl!"

Gordon MacRae is definitely signed for Curly and Charlotte Greenwood—excellent casting, I think—will play Aunt Eller. Ado Annie and Judd are not yet settled upon, but when Oscar Hammerstein gets here Tuesday the choice will be made. Dick Rodgers arrives the 15th of June, and the production starts early in July.

There has been much guessing as to who will direct Clark Gable in "Tall Men" that I was glad to get it straight from Darryl Zanuck that Henry King will take the reins as soon as he finishes directing "Untamed," which hasn't started yet.

Clark, himself, asked for Henry and you know he's going to get everything he wants at 20th. Jane Russell, however, has not been signed for the picture.

I'm very proud of my daughter, Harriet Parsons, and I'm going to say so right out in print.

She and George Stevens have been selected as the principal speakers at the national convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Denver, Colorado, starting June 1.

Harriet will speak on being the one woman producer in Hollywood and will tell about her new picture, "Susan Slept Here." George will talk about "Shane."

There will be more than 1,500 women's club heads at the main luncheon June 4 when Harriet and George receive awards.

A few days ago a happy Hugh O'Brian telephoned to tell me that he'd been signed to do ten of Loretta Young's TV series, "Letter to Loretta." This, he says, is the best thing that had happened to him.

Well, another very good thing came along today. He was put in "No Business Like Show Business" opposite Mitzi Gaynor. If my memory serves me right, Hugh used to beau Mitzi around before she and Jack Bean became a wosome.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

At Larry Finley's, Gloria De Haven and Jeff Chandler shared a table. Amusingly, Jeff says he wants to keep this romance quiet but he's being seen everywhere with pretty Gloria.

Speaking of Larry Finley, next week he starts a day time program every day in addition to his night radio show. How he'll do it I don't know.

Virginia James, woman program director of Cincinnati radio station WCKY, came to my staff luncheon. She does a five day a week program, too, commenting on all subjects.

Did you know that Ava Gardner was in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital for several days with kidney trouble, before she left for Rome.

The Samuel Goldwyns are entertaining at dinner tomorrow. Irving Berlin will make his first screen appearance since "This Is the Army," and do the introductory speech in "No Business Like Show Business."

Eddie Fisher opens at the Coconut Grove June 17, for ten days, and that's one show I don't intend to miss.

Keefe Brasselle and Gene Westens did a great job at St. Joseph's in Pomona. They deserve great credit for putting on a show for the children's playground.

Raves, raves, raves for "The High and the Mighty," and it didn't make John Wayne. Jack Warner and Bob Fellows one bit mad.

They were all at the party Jack gave at the Mocambo after the premiere. Also Jane Wyman and Freddie Karger, Cobina Wright, Vera Ellen, Richard Gully, Jimmy McHugh, Mr. and Mrs. John Farrow, Virginia Mayo and Mike O'Shea and some 15 others.

Plane Crash, Car Mishaps Mar Weekend

Soldier Is Killed In Turnpike Wreck

A plane crash and multiple motor vehicle accidents brought death to one and injuries to at least a dozen more persons in this area during the long Memorial Day holidays.

Two men were injured yesterday morning when the private plane in which they were riding hit the side of a mountain near their home in Danville.

Maryland State Police said the plane piloted by Kenneth Tichnell, 33, of Danville, crashed about 225 feet west of Route 220 at Danville after the engine of the plane quit.

Tichnell, a former Maryland State Trooper, suffered a severe laceration of the ear and a possible fractured jaw.

Engine "Conks Out"

His brother, Bobby Dale Tichnell, 22, riding with him in the single-motored Taylorcraft, suffered two cuts on the knee in the crash.

The injured men were taken to Keyser for treatment by a physician there.

State Police said the plane was flying over Danville about 9:15 a. m. when the engine of the plane "conked out" and the craft hit the side of a low hill.

The elder Tichnell operates a restaurant and filling station near Frederick.

First Sgt. Harry A. Holsinger, of the LaVale barracks of the Maryland State Police, investigated.

Richard William Keller, 28, of 419 Grand Avenue, was admitted to Memorial Hospital early last night after the car he was driving crashed at 19 Grand Avenue. City police said the car jumped the curb and crashed against another car.

Nine-year-old Richard Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Peterson, Cresaptown, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital after being struck by an automobile while he was riding his bicycle near his home. The car was driven by Mrs. Margaret Sherman of Baltimore and hospital attaches said last night the boy suffered severe bruises of both legs and abrasions at the base of his spine. He was kept in the hospital for observation.

William Schoenadel, 14, of 636 North Centre Street was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday for surgery after he suffered a severely lacerated thumb on his left hand when he cut it on a piece of glass. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Schoenadel.

Two unidentified motorists were slightly injured Saturday morning near Hyndman, Pa., when the car in which they were driving swerved to avoid a bicycle and went out of control.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford said the car left the road and dropped to the B&O Railroad tracks. They said the motorists were treated in Memorial Hospital here. The accident is still being investigated, they said.

Wesley E. Abrams, 23, of 310 Piedmont Avenue, escaped injury Saturday afternoon when the car he was driving crashed on Route 28 about three miles north of Romney.

Romney State Police reported the car skidded on the wet road and turned completely over, but that Abrams was uninjured.

Soldier Is Killed

Killed about six miles east of Somerset on the Pennsylvania Turnpike was a soldier, Elmer W. Leng, Pittsburgh, who was enroute home from Aberdeen Proving Ground. The car in which he was riding late Friday night collided with a tractor-trailer.

Donald J. Perrotti, 21, Greenville, Pa., driver of the auto, was admitted to Somerset Community Hospital with shock and cuts. He also is located at Aberdeen.

Saturday night, William Jennings Oates Jr., 18, Burlington, was admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, in a dazed condition. He suffered head injuries when his motorcycle skidded at South Main and Lincoln Streets in Keyser.

State Police investigated a car-truck collision Saturday at 4:05 p. m. at Belle Grove between Siding and Town Hills on U. S. Route 40. The injured, Albert C. Wenzel, Trenton, N. J., and his

Two Men Sentenced For Parole Violation

Harry Reger, 946 Gay Street, and Ollie Beall, Hyndman, Pa., were sentenced to the Maryland House of Correction by Magistrate Donald W. Mason in Trial Magistrates Court for violation of paroles.

Visits Granddaughters

Mrs. Helen Preston, 455 Baltimore Avenue, has returned to Cumberland after visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Weatherholt, Petersburg, Va., and attending first Holy Communion exercises for her granddaughters, Billie Kay and Claudette Weatherholt.

The Candidates

Cumberland's citizens will come back from a long Memorial Day weekend tomorrow to meet one of the most serious of their duties as citizens—that of voting in the municipal primary election. On the ballot they will find the names of four candidates for the mayoral nomination and 15 for council. Tomorrow's voting will narrow this field to two candidates for mayor, eight for council. This contest in turn will be decided at the general election June 15, two weeks from tomorrow. Election officials remind voters that they may vote for only one candidate for mayor, and four for council in tomorrow's balloting. Other points to remember: ballots must be marked with an "X," which is the only legal mark. The mark must be clear and must remain within the limits of the box beside each candidate's name. Voters must use only the pencils provided in the voting booths, and no other marks may be made on the ballot. Polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. in order that citizens who work on odd shifts may vote. Some of the polling places in the city's 25 precincts have been moved this year, but election officials have posted signs at each abandoned polling place, giving the location of the new one. The candidates, who will be voting for positions on the city's first four-year Mayor and City Council, are listed in alphabetical order.

Today's Sermonette

Today's sermonette is a digest of the sermon preached yesterday at Second Baptist Church by the pastor, Rev. Kenneth M. Hayes. The sermon digests are being prepared through the cooperation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

Other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is in Jesus Christ. 1 Corinthians 3:11.

The Indestructible Foundation

By REV. KENNETH M. HAYES

The safety and security of any building depends upon its foundation. Some years ago a 12-story hotel building was erected in one of the large cities of our nation. Since the soil upon which the foundation was to be laid was sand instead of rock, the engineer required the contractor to dig several feet down and then drive piles upon which they poured tons of concrete for the foundation. This foundation cost a great deal more than an ordinary one would. The cost was necessary to make the foundation safe and to provide adequate protection for those who would stay in the hotel.

If it is important that we have a foundation that will make material and physical investments safe, how much more important it is that we build our spiritual lives on a safe and secure foundation. On what kind of foundation are you building your life?

1. Some are building their lives on wealth and material things. Houses, lands, and money are the gods of many people. The rich young ruler came to Jesus and asked Him how he could inherit eternal life. The Master asked him if he had kept the commandments. He said that he had and felt good that he had. The Lord said, "Yet lackest thou one thing: sell all that thou hast, and distribute unto the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven; and come, follow me. And when he heard this, he was very sorrowful; for he was very rich. 'Life to this man was in the abundance of the things that he possessed. The foundation of his life was found in wealth and material things.

2. Others are building on church membership and morality. The one who thinks that joining a church and living a good moral life will give him a solid foundation is like the foolish man who built his house on the sand and the rains descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew and beat upon that house; and it fell. The life that is built on the belief that all I have to do is join a church and live a good moral life is like the Pharisee who had a form of godliness, but denied the power thereof. These things within themselves do not give a man a solid foundation.

3. Still others think earthly fame and good deeds will be a sufficient foundation. Paul said, "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourself: it is a gift of God: not of works lest any man should boast." "Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to His mercy He saved us," Titus 3:5.

4. Christ is the only adequate foundation. "Other foundations can no man lay than that is laid, which is Christ Jesus." What is necessary to build on Christ? Repentance—"Except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish." Luke 13:3.

Faith—"Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved."

Feed on the promises of God—Read God's Word daily and pray. Acts 16:31.

If not in uniform, men should remove the hat with the right hand and place the hat over the heart. Women should merely place the right hand over the heart. This should be done while standing erect, at "attention."

The same respect is paid to the flag during the ceremony of hoisting or lowering the colors.
